

The Art of being a Brilliant Classroom Assistant

Monday 9 October 2017, 9am – 2.45pm, Ashmount School, Loughborough

This course is for anyone who supports learning in and around the classroom environment in any phase of school or college, including learning support assistants, teaching assistants and volunteers. The title doesn't matter, but what happens with the learners does.

Don't expect a stuffy theory packed course. This day will inspire you to be brilliant, it'll give you new ideas and approaches and you'll walk out with a range of strategies to use the next day.

Objectives

- Gain a greater insight into what it takes to be very successful in supporting learning
- Understand the practical measures you can take to build career success
- Walk out with a range of practical ideas to use in classes to engage and inspire your students

Key themes

- The big picture of the role
- Making an impact
- The bits that make a difference
- The bigger picture of career success
- Pastoral care and parents
- Differentiation
- Being the best you can be
- Tricks of the trade...dealing with challenging students
