

Religious Education: Learning, progress and assessment: 'I've taught it: have they got it?'

Friday 26th June, 9am – 3pm, Ashmount School, Loughborough

This course is being led by Wendy Harrison, an independent education consultant.

About this course

This course will look at how to show progress in RE by the effective sequencing and layering of the curriculum. This ties in with new Ofsted requirements, especially in relation to the impact of the curriculum. Assessment will be considered in the context of the Leicestershire Agreed Syllabus.

This day is a great opportunity to further develop your understanding of knowledge, understanding and progress in RE.

Who should attend?

This course is suitable for RE co-ordinators and more experienced teachers of RE who feel they would like to develop their understanding around the areas of assessment and progress

£95 (members)
£120 (non-members)

About the trainer

Wendy Harrison works as an independent consultant offering bespoke support and training for primary and secondary schools on a range of issues, e.g. curriculum review and development, preparation for Ofsted, religious education, SMSC and British values.

She works part-time as the RE Adviser for two local authorities, supporting primary and secondary schools in areas such as planning, assessment and teaching about religions and world-views.

Click here to book a place

Dates for your diary

Religious Education and Philosophy for Children: teaching through enquiry course - 20th March 2020

Religious Education Network Meeting: 27th February 2020

Religious Education Network Meeting: 25th June 2020

You can book on to this course and networks by clicking here.